CROWDS GATHER.

McKinley's Home Today the Scene of a Monster Political Rally.

CAKE FROM FAR AND NEAR.

THE OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN AT CANTON PROVES ONE OF THE BIGGEST POLITICAL MEETINGS IN OHIO'S HISTORY.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]

CANTON, O., Sept. 18.—The great campaign opening at McKinley's home occurred today. And a great opening it has been, and one of the largest political gatherings in Ohio's history.

The streets are gay with streamers, banners, flags and arches, and welcoming mottoes span the prominent thoroughfares. Portraits of McKinley and Hobart are displayed in thousands of windows. Nature too lent her assistance with a day approaching the ideal with bright sunshine, but cool enough to prevent discomfort.

The shops and factories were generally closed, and the business houses closed at noon. Early in the morning crowds of visitors began pouring into Canton from all directions and the streets were early crowded. Democrats and Republicans alike have helped in making this celebration day one long to be remembered.

Marching companies of farmers, mechanics and shop people came by the hundreds from Canton and formed at the public square. Then special trains, of which over fifty were scheduled, began arriving. Delegations from outside the city came faster than the newspaper men could keep track of. Notable uniformed clubs were present from Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Cleveland, Detroit and Toledo.

At noon began the hurry and bustle of the parade organization. The parade moved in four divisions. There was a large contingent of footmen, wheelmen and horsemen. Pennsylvania, West Virginia and other states made the first division, Ohio outside of Stark county made the second; Stark county outside of Canton the third; Canton made the fourth. Major McKinley, visiting speaker of the day and guests of honor rode in open carriages at the head of the parade. A short march brought the procession to the monster tent with accommodations for twenty thousand people. Here the first meeting was held, Governor Bushnell presiding. Campaign songs and band music filled the tent for a time and kept the great throng amused. Then came two rousing addresses by Senator Culom of Illinois and Senator Thurston of Nebraska.

This evening there will be brilliant illuminations and fire-works. Another parade will be formed and another meeting held in the great tent to be addressed by Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania and Congressman McCleary of Minnesota.

250,000 MAJORITY.

That is the Estimate for the Republicans with Another Democratic State Ticket.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Apropos of the third state ticket of the Democratic party the Evening Post says everybody at the headquarters of the gold Democratic national committee today seems to think such a ticket will be nominated in Brooklyn September 24.

E. Ellery Anderson, the gold Democrat, says it is not possible for sound money Democrats to support Thacher. If he accepts he will have to stand on the platform which unreservedly endorses the Chicago platform. Gold Democrats would be obliged to abandon their principles if they supported the Buffalo ticket. In Mr. Anderson's opinion Thacher will be defeated by over 200,000 which is his estimate of McKinley's strength in the state.

RECORD BROKEN TODAY.

WHY HAVE ANY PRINTED BALLOTS IN ANY CAUCUS?

Now that our caucuses have been held, and fairly too, a criticism of one feature of our present caucus methods, will not be construed as personal criticism of any candidate's methods and especially as the feature we here question is entirely legal and so was legally used in Wednesday evening's caucuses.

The use of the undesignated printed lists of delegates in a caucus is an action that deprives many voters of expressing their caucus preferences. Whether or not the printed ballot absolutely and necessarily bars free expression of the caucus attendant is not the point we now urge. But we do say, and every voter familiar with our caucuses will say it with us, that the undesignated printed ballot with delegates names does in actual practice deprive many voters of intelligent action at the caucus. That is to say, these ballots are blind to all except the few who make them up or to their friends who have been given the secret.

Who attended a caucus in North Adams Wednesday evening that did not hear some one ask: "What does this ballot mean—who is it for?" "Isn't there any other ballot?" There was no one to answer and the questioner could vote the printed ballot or not vote at all.

Was this fair? Was this the intent and purpose of that caucus? Did it allow intelligent and free choice? Not a bit of it. It was an advantage taken by those interested in securing office for themselves or friends.

It may be answered that every one has the right to be given a printed list and that it is any voter's own fault if the list of delegates he prefers is not on a printed ballot, for he has the right to have it there and can have it there if he will only attend to it. That sounds well, but in fact it amounts to nothing. Most men are about their own usual business before the caucuses are held. They have not the time to make up delegate lists and the trouble attendant upon it. They feel that can be done on caucus night, for that is just what caucus night is for. And because they have not taken the same interest in the office-seekers and prepared printed ballots this is no reason why they should not have free choice and choice the evening they do give up to caucus. And at present they certainly do not, except where the printed ballots are known to all to be for certain candidates, and that is very seldom—only when a most intense anti-caucus caucus has been made.

There are several possible remedies for this unfair feature of the caucus—perhaps not perfect remedies but partial at least. If a list has been prepared in the interests of some certain candidate let that fact be designated on the ballot. If there be a list of unpledged delegates let that fact be designated. These remedies would give the caucus voter a guide for action.

But better still, keep out of the caucus the printed fixed-up ballot. Let delegates be nominated by voice, or a list of delegates be so nominated in the caucus. Then when nominations have ceased let the chairman of the caucus call for a ballot, the delegates to be chosen from those nominated in the caucus, and each vote to vote for as many delegates as the ward is entitled to for the convention designated, and then let the men be declared elected delegates who are highest in the vote to the number of delegates the ward is entitled to.

This plan will take more time. Pensiles and paper will be necessary, and perhaps some clerks will have to write the ballots for some who cannot express their preference in written English. But it will take only a little more time, and the caucuses' choice of delegates will mean the voters' choice. Every voter at a caucus will then have had his untrammeled voice, and he will know whom the delegates are for, if not by their own declaration or the declaration of those who nominate them, then by the known preferences of the men who nominate them.

Is not this plan fairer, better and more in the spirit of what a caucus is for and in the spirit of institutions supposed to rest on the free and intelligent action of voters?

A POLITICAL CANVASS THAT TELLS.

They have a way of making a political canvas in Indiana, that is so thorough and so sure that the result of an election can be foretold with almost absolute precision. A canvas is almost as certain as election returns, and the canvas there has become so popular with party managers that it will not be strange if some system similar to that of Indiana's is not generally in operation in all the states before long.

Two canvasses of the presidential situation have been made this campaign already, one within a few days and the other last May. The enrollment just completed is what is known as sixty-day canvas. There were shown to be many changes, and the figures of May were greatly reduced. A majority of about 20,000 over the popular Democratic aggregation was, however, ascertained. About 35,000 Democrats who have not yet decided how they will vote were counted against McKinley.

This system of canvassing as given by the Indianapolis papers is as follows: The Republican state machine is conducted with great precision. There is a member of the state committee from each congressional district. In each one of these there is a district committee, of which the state committee is chairman.

In addition there is a county committee, composed of one man from each precinct, who is elected by the party voters of the precinct. There is also a precinct committee. In the rural districts the precincts are sub-divided into small areas, generally of twenty voters each.

In a city there is a committeeman to each block. The latter are called neighborhood committeemen, and each one of them has a printed form filled out with the name of every voter in his jurisdiction. He knows each voter personally, and it is his duty personally to interrogate each individual voter.

On election day he sees that the voters go to the polls, furnishes a carriage, if necessary, or arranges any of those numerous little transactions not infrequent in politics—particularly the politics of Indiana.

It may be seen that by this organization a neighborhood committeeman can go over his territory in a day, and his report may reach the headquarters of the state central committee in less than a week.

Of the sentiment in Pittsfield the correspondent of the Springfield Union says: "If there was any lurking sentiment anywhere for Senator Dan Malone as candidate in the first congressional district, it certainly did not show itself last night, and as was stated in this morning's Union, A. B. Wright of North Adams has every delegate from this city and the rumored inroads of Malone did not and will not materialize here and apparently nowhere in Berkshire, so think Pittsfield Republicans."

How, Ashley B. Wright of North Adams should receive the vote of every Berkshire delegate in the congressional convention. The fact that some one else wants his place is no reason why he should be put aside. He has done good service and is fairly entitled to a nomination. If nominated, the voters of the district will show by the size of his majority that they approve of the choice; everybody has.

Some have labor, so much for a dollar.

Some have lumber, so much for a dollar.

Some have sugar or potatoes or ham or corn or something else, all so much for a dollar.

We have advertising and subscription, so much for a dollar.

When we want one of those silver dollars, we cannot go and take it. They don't belong to us. They belong to the men who took the silver to the mint to be coined.

If we took one, it would be stealing.

If we asked for one for nothing, it would be begging.

If the owners gave us one for nothing, it would be a gift.

If we borrowed one, it would cost us interest, and so

Most of us, to get one, must trade labor, lumber, sugar, coal, advertising or something to get it.

This is absolutely and honestly so, isn't it?

Well, being so, why do we take any chances on the dollar?

We can get gold now.

It is worth 100 cents on a dollar everywhere.

So we have supposed the silver to be.

Suppose it isn't.

What then?

What is the use of taking a chance unless we can do better? A silver dollar won't be worth more than 100 cents, will it?

We are getting that now.

Let well enough alone.

Some say duty compels a Democrat to back up and vote for a Democrat. You have Bryan's word that he is no Democrat. Let him deny that he said it.

Some say it is pretty bad now. We might as well take a chance. It can't be worse.

What kind of tomfoolery is this?

Are things bad in a business way?

Let us tell you something to try.

Vote down this crowd of repudiators.

Tell the world in trumpet tones in November that we want the best money, that we will take no other, and business will revive.

Let the capital out that Bryan and his followers have scared under cover, and prosperity will come.—Lumber Trade Journal.

Strange Bed Fellows.

The thought of sleeping with such bed fellows disgusts Uncle Sam.

Some Argument From Embroider Bimet allite.

Gold is recognized as the universal standard of value. It is the measure that must be used. It is the measure by which your wealth must be tested. *

The wealth of the United States is tested by the same rule. It has been and always will be the touchstone of measurement, and when you depart from that and try to figure up any other measure which the world does not recognize you get into confusion.—Sen. William M. Stewart.

And why all this? Not, as the silver men foolishly pretend, because the existing gold standard, has made money scarce, for capital is lying idle in heaps, scores upon scores of millions, fairly yearning for safe employment. No.

Ask those concerned why all this happens, and with one voice they will tell you it is because they apprehend serious danger to every dollar vented out through the change of our standard of value, in prospect, through the debasement of our currency threatened by the free silver coinage movement. And if these are the effects of a mere apprehension of a possibility, what would be the effect of the event itself?

Silver, Copper and Then Paper.

The owners of copper mines need not be elated with the idea that the argument for cheap silver dollars is a still better argument for cheaper copper dollars. We shall not drop to a copper basis. The ultimate resting place for the Popocrats is foredetermined in their platform assertion of the right of the government to issue legal tender paper notes. That is the cheap money paradise into which all the advocates of repudiation are logically drawn.

POLITICAL FACTS.

Deeds are facts and are forever and ever. * * * In silver countries, labor is cheap and kept cheap by the silver dollar. For my part I do not want that kind of prosperity. I want a prosperity, which, by good wages to all, is shared by all. We want a broader life broadening every day for all our people.—THOMAS B. REED

EX-SECRETARY SCHURZ.

SHOWS CLEARLY THAT FREE SILVER WOULD MEAN RUIN TO INDUSTRY.

Threat to Put the United States on the Silver Basis Would Cause Business Sagitation.—Mr. Bryan's Scheme to Throw the Country Into Fits So That He Can Try His Sixteen to One Quack Medicine—Evil Effects of the Free Coinage Agitation Already Manifest.

Hon. Carl Schurz, ex-secretary of the interior, addressed an immense audience in Central Music hall, Chicago, on Sept. 5. Speaking of possible free silver victory he said.

Consider what the immediate consequence would be if Mr. Bryan were elected president, with a congress to match. Mr. Bryan would of course be unable to have his free coinage law enacted, but that could not be, even if he called an extra session of congress, until some time in April or May, five or six months after the day of election. But as soon as on the 4th of November the result of the election was announced everybody would know that the parity of gold and silver would not be maintained.

It having been made certain by Mr. Bryan's election that the parity of gold and silver would not be maintained, there would be a rush upon the treasury for the gold in it by persons holding greenbacks entitled to redemption and the gold reserve would be exhausted in a twinkling. Gold will instantly disappear from circulation, to be hoarded or exported. Why will it disappear? Because every sensible person when making a payment will prefer to make it in the less valuable dollar and hold the more valuable gold dollar back for more profitable use. Gold will therefore quickly rise to a premium, and we shall be on the silver basis long before a free coinage law can be enacted. Our daily transactions in buying and selling, in paying and receiving wages, will no longer be carried upon the basis of the gold dollar worth 100 cents, but of the silver dollar worth 50 cents or thereabout, for the government will no longer hold up the silver dollar to the value of the gold dollar.

What will happen, however, that all the silver mine owners and others who had silver took it all to Washington or Philadelphia or to some other United States mint and had it coined into 16 to 1 dollars, and

Suppose so much had been coined that all the silver in the world was made into 16 to 1 dollars, and

Suppose every one of these dollars was piled in one heap right on the next block, and

Suppose every single one of them was worth 100 cents here and everywhere. What good would they do us unless we had something we could trade by which we could get one?

Well, we have something to trade; everybody has.

Some have labor, so much for a dollar.

Some have lumber, so much for a dollar.

Some have sugar or potatoes or ham or corn or something else, all so much for a dollar.

We have advertising and subscription, so much for a dollar.

When we want one of those silver dollars, we cannot go and take it. They don't belong to us. They belong to the men who took the silver to the mint to be coined.

BERNOR STOLE A WATCH.

And Afterwards Threw It into the River to Avoid Conviction.

Eli Bernor was in Adams hall on Spring street Thursday morning watching some members of the Turn Verein association go through their exercises. When the drillers completed their work, Charles Walker went into the dressing room to put on his clothes. When he came to his vest he found that his gold watch was missing. Bernor had been in this room and they suspected him of knowing something about the timepiece. They reported to the police and Thursday night chief Curran went to the clerk's office with the man whose watch had been stolen, to procure a warrant. While he was in the office Captain Hodecker met Bernor on the street and, seeking to retain him, told him the chief desired to see him. Bernor walked along with the officer and when on Center street bridge, he stepped behind and taking something from his pocket, dropped it over the bridge. The officer heard something strike. Afterwards the officers looked in the shallow river under the bridge and found the watch.

In court this morning Bernor was found guilty and fined $5.

Marion Cone was fined $5 this morning for drunkenness.

MASONS WONT WORK

Because Their Employer is Furnishing Stone for a Non-Union Job.

Thursday the stone masons in the employ of Patrick J. Barrett decided to leave the work Mr. Barrett has on hand for the following reasons: Mr. Barrett has contracted with the Mannesmann Cycle Tube works to furnish them with all the stone to be used in the construction of their big dam at Zylonite. He is taking the refuse stone from the marble quarries for their use. The masons who have refused to work claim that the Tube company is to employ non-union work men on the job and for that reason they think Mr. Barrett is not acting properly in furnishing the stone.

Thinks McKinley's Victory Sure.

Wednesday, L. Crafts, a drummer representing Eggman, Dugald & Co., Toledo, O., trunks and bag manufacturers, called at Jenkins & Mooney's clothing store and attempted to sell Mr. Mooney a bill of goods. Finally he made a proposition which Mr. Mooney accepted, to sell him all the goods he wanted up to $600, payable when McKinley and Hobart or, rather the electors who will elect them, are chosen. He made a written agreement that the order will not have to be paid for if McKinley is not elected and only the regular price will be asked if they are not. This shows how matters stand in the vicinity of his home. Mr. Mooney gave an order for about $50 worth of goods.

Another Series of Games.

The Renfrews have arranged another series of games with the Stanleys of Pittsfield on account of the unsatisfactory ending of the last series. The first game will be played on the Renfrew grounds Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and the second in Pittsfield next Wednesday. McBride and Reid will bat for the local nine Saturday afternoon. It is necessary to play the third game of the series the managers will decide as to whether it will be played in Pittsfield, Adams or elsewhere. The games will be hotly contested and local lovers of the game should turn out in numbers on Saturday.

WEATHER FORECAST.

MAY GIVE UP TYNAN

A Report That France Will Surrender Him to England.

EXECUTIVE AT DUBLIN TAKES ACTION

The Alleged Antwerp Home Factory Said To Have Contained Half a Ton of Explosives--Bell, the New Yorker, Remanded.

London, Sept. 18.—The executive at Dublin has instituted proceedings for the extradition of P. J. Tynan, in custody at Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, on the charge of having been connected with the Phoenix park murders. A Brussels dispatch says that enough material has been seized at the resort of the suspects arrested at Antwerp to manufacture a ton of dynamite. The Times, in the course of its discussion on the extradition of Tynan, says that there is no doubt that the extradition treaty with France would be retroactive and could be made to cover the Phoenix park murders for which there is a fair chance that the extradition would be granted. But the Times expresses doubt whether the treaty would cover the case of a culprit in a fresh dynamite conspiracy. The Chronicle quotes "a well-informed Irish correspondent," who declares that Tynan is not the genuine "Number 4," but only a braggart was posed as such. "He has been in London," declares the Chronicle, "within a year. Why was he not arrested then? It is quite unlikely that the foreign office will press very hard for his extradition as the prosecution he would have might lead to very embarrassing disclosures." The Chronicle's Paris correspondent says: "The fact that Tynan fought against Germany in 1870 is likely to weigh in his favor with the French authorities." Edward Bell, the alleged Irish dynamiter, recently arrested at Glasgow, was arraigned at Bow street police court yesterday. He is described as Edward Bell, alias Edward J. Ivory, an American and a hotel keeper of 211 Lexington avenue, New York. Bell is accused of conspiring with others to cause an explosion in the United Kingdom. After formal evidence of his arrest had been given by the police he was remanded for a week and was removed to Holloway jail late last evening.

Advised by a New York Detective.

London, Sept. 18.—It having become known here through cable dispatches that the New York police disavowed any knowledge of the dynamite conspiracy having been started in New York, and denied that they had given any information to the British police that would have led to the arrest of Tynan and his fellow plotters, representative of the United Associated Presses sought to learn from where, outside of their regular agents, the police here kept so well informed of the movements of the conspirators in New York. Last night he was informed by a gentleman who knows the inside facts of the case that the doings in New York of the alleged dynamiters were watched by Charles Heidelberg, an ex-member of the staff of former Superintendent of Police Byrnes. He was in Antwerp last week, presumably in connection with the conspiracy, but came to England at the end of the week, and on Saturday sailed for New York. He is a passenger on the American Line steamer St. Louis.

Tynan Relies on France for His Safety.

Paris, Sept. 18.—A dispatch from Boulogne-sur-Mer states that Tynan has refused legal assistance, saying that he relies upon the French government for his safety. It has been learned that the vessel on which Tynan sailed from New York was bound for Mediterranean ports. She touched at Gibraltar, where Tynan obtained special leave to visit part of the fortress.

Closely Guarding the Czar.

Copenhagen, Sept. 18.—The police of this city have arrested a man named Machler, a native of Leipzig, who is suspected of being an anarchist. The czar and czarina are now visiting the king of Denmark and, in view of the discovery of the Tynan conspiracy, the Danish police are keeping an extraordinarily close watch upon all suspicious characters. The imperial couple will sail for Great Britain on Sunday next.

SHIPS FOR TURKISH WATERS.

Reports from England That They Will Try To Force the Bosphorus Denied.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Officials of the state and navy departments decline to assume from the reports published in England that there can be any idea seriously entertained there that American warships are to force the Bosphorus in conjunction with the British squadron. While the Banff is to become eventually, it is hoped, the American guardship at Constantinople, the size and armament of the American cruisers in the Mediterranean is declared to be unsuited for any hostile participation in operations against such famous fortifications as command the Dardanelles. In order to correct the impression that our fleet in Turkish waters is to be materially augmented by the cruiser Cincinnati, which is to sail from Tomkinsville to-morrow, the navy department has made public the following orders issued from the navy department to the commanding officer of the Cincinnati: "Sir—The vessel under your command is hereby detached from the north Atlantic station, and you will proceed with her, not later than the 19th inst., at the most economical rate of speed, to Gibraltar. Upon your arrival there report to the commander-in-chief of the European station for duty in the squadron under his command."

LI HUNG'S CREDENTIALS.

The Document Presented to President Cleveland Placed on Exhibition.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The magnificent credentials from the Chinese emperor, which Earl Li Hung Chang delivered to President Cleveland, have been placed on exhibition in the state department library. The wrapper is a six foot square of yellow satin, elaborately embroidered in gold, silver and colors of exquisite workmanship with five large five-clawed double dragons conventionally arranged. The letter is written on a scroll of lemon-colored parchment five feet long by two feet wide. One-half is covered by the message in Chinese block characters; the other half being a translation in Manchu script. The great red seal of the emperor is in the center.

KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE.

Instant Death of an Electric Light Employee at Home, N. Y.

Rome, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Albert William Kingsley, aged 40, a trimmer and lineman in the employ of the Electric Light company of this city, was instantaneously killed last evening while handling a live wire. He had been engaged in connecting a residence with the circuit, there being no current on. A little after 3 o'clock a terrific storm came up and he sought shelter. After the storm had passed he went at his work again. In the meantime the current had been turned on at the power house and when Kingsley undertook to cut the wire to make the connection over 1,000 volts of electricity shot through his body and he dropped dead in his tracks. His was the first death by electricity in this city.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 18.—The Manufacturer in its edition to-day will say concerning the iron and steel trade: There is still the better feeling in the iron and steel trade, but it has not yet developed much in the way of higher prices or increased business. Still, it cannot be denied that the situation is considerably improved, and that there is much more business in sight than there was a few weeks ago.

TEXAS NOT INJURED

The Big Battleship Grounded On a Sand Bar.

MAY BE NO COURT MARTIAL

The Machine in Charge of the Time Admin. That He Is Responsible Having Misunderstood the Signals.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The navy department has received a detailed statement from Captain Glass regarding the grounding and floating of the battleship Texas at the mouth of the harbor at Newport, R. I. According to the official report the Texas did not strike a rock, but went ashore on a sandy bottom and apparently not injured in the least. It took four tugs to pull her off, but this work was accomplished after half an hour's steady strain. The battleship was hard and fast aground for about eight hours. It was at first supposed that she had struck upon a ledge and was fast amidships, but this was found to be a mistake by a diver who went down to inspect her hull soon after she struck. The point at which she struck was a sandy ridge between the ledges which abound in the vicinity, hence she was not punctured, nor was she badly bruised, but there was great danger that she would be strained as the tide receded, it having been about half ebb when she struck. According to the official statement the battleship settled easily into the bar as the water receded, and it is thought she suffered comparatively no damage. A thorough inspection of the hull will, however, be made and the exact condition of the vessel reported to the navy department, and though strong protests against naming a gold man or silver platform were made the programme mapped out by the conference at Senator Hill's house went through without a serious hitch.

Cause of the Accident.

Aside from the statement given out by the press concerning a mistake in orders in the engineer's room, Capt. Glass has nothing to say about the accident. It appears, however, that his orders were prompt and effective.

When it became apparent that the Texas was fast, an attempt to use the port anchor as a lever having been found useless, tugs were at once ordered to the assistance of the helpless vessel. The Aquidneck, one of the liveliest tugboats, was alongside in thirty minutes. A few pulls at the towline proved that one small craft could do nothing towards moving the tons of steel which were imbedded in the sand. Meanwhile the tide had fallen so rapidly that the bow of the battleship was well out of the water. The only thing to be done was to wait for the next tide.

Machinist Accepts the Blame.

An examination made soon after the warship was floated and the divers reported her intact. No water had found its way into the interior and the outer hull was pronounced uninjured.

The work of stripping her torpedo outfit, for which purpose she came to this port, was then begun. It is stated that there will be no need of a court martial to determine the responsibility. The machinist in charge of the reversing gear admits that the blame is his, as he misunderstood the signals.

SEIZURE OF THE THREE FRIENDS

SEIZURE Detained as a Bullyard by Orders from Washington.

Fernandina, Fla., Sept. 18.—The steamer Three Friends still lying at quarantine station at the entrance of Cumberland sound under seizure orders from Washington. The Three Friends returned a few days ago from a successful expedition to Cuba, and since then has been at the quarantine station. Before the seizure the United States authorities learned that the vessel was preparing to slip away from the quarantine station and take another trip to Cuba before returning to Jacksonville, her home port. The Washington authorities were informed and the seizure of the steamer was ordered.

The principal speaker was Herr Most, the well known anarchist, who delivered his address with great earnestness and worked up his audience to the highest pitch of excitement. He denounced all forms of government, private property and all religions.
